Admiral Stansfield Turner, Director
 Central Intelligence Agency
 Washington, D. C. 20505

Dear Admiral Turner:

Several months ago, at the request of the Committee, our staff was instructed to contact the various elements of the Intelligence Community in order to set up some briefings for us about counter-intelligence. Over the past several months, our staff and the community representatives have put in many hours in trying to arrange the sort of briefings which would be most valuable to the Committee.

During this interval, however, we understand that you have presented a new proposal to the NSC/SCC/CI involving an interdisciplinary approach to counter-intelligence and as a result, you would like to wait for final approval before briefing our Committee. We appreciate your position and are willing to give you the time to present your new proposal whenever the NSC makes its final approval. In the meantime, and since several Committee members have brought up the subject, we would greatly appreciate it if you would allow your counter-intelligence specialists to present the briefing which was worked out by our staff and the community representatives.

Sincerely,

Birch Bayh
 Chairman

Barry Goldwater
 Vice Chairman
